

FootBridge Director Jennifer Tortorella to Present “Owning Your Career” Workshop

-- Andover Resident to Offer Career Development Expertise at Suffolk University, North Andover Campus --

October 20, 2008 – Andover, MA – The FootBridge Companies announced today that Jennifer Tortorella, director of the company’s Permanent Placement Services Group and co-director for the Downtown Women’s Club (DWC) North Chapter, will present a workshop on “Owning Your Career” in challenging economic times alongside Kristine Steinberg, co-director of DWC.

“Providing career advice is what I do,” said Jennifer Tortorella. “I know the skill sets that are in demand today. And, I know what job seekers need to do, to get the jobs they want in today’s competitive job market. The session will provide career advice in all these areas and arm attendees with the confidence they need to move forward with their career development.

Jennifer also provides regular career-focused tips and the openings her team is working on, on her very own blog, www.headhuntressblog.com. Additionally, she recently was published in MassHighTech.

The workshop, sponsored by Suffolk University’s MBA Program-North Andover campus, will focus on how to set yourself apart by leveraging strategic relationships, positioning yourself inside your current organization, defining a five year plan, and accessing professionals who can help move your career forward. For more information on Jennifer and Kristine, go to their profiles on the DWC website at www.downtownwomensclub.com.
